

Childcare Information Resources

During COVID-19 and Beyond

When the COVID-19 pandemic struck a few months ago, childcare became a major issue and continues to be a concern as the country moves forward with transitioning from ‘sheltering in place’ back to the workplace. The following is a list of resource articles and websites that may be helpful.

Resources

If you’re an employer looking to set up a childcare incentive program, this might be helpful. Some companies like PwC (PricewaterhouseCoopers) offer reimbursement to employees of up to $2,220 in emergency childcare expenses. <https://www.pwc.com/us/en/careers/why-pwc/employee-benefits.html>

The following article has some resources created by start-ups to help families cope with the COVID-19 crisis. <https://techcrunch.com/2020/03/27/how-child-care-startups-in-the-u-s-are-helping-families-cope-with-the-covid-19-crisis/>

An example for Employers - In Washington, D.C., Children’s National Hospital is creating its own database for connecting its workers to available in-home child care centers.

ChildCare.gov provides direct links to COVID-19 information by state and territory to help families stay informed. <https://www.childcare.gov/covid-19>

Child Care Aware of America (CCAoA) – provides news and the latest information to help childcare providers and childcare resource and referral agencies stay informed on COVID-19 updates. <https://info.childcareaware.org/coronavirus-updates>

Parents - Find child care options near you at - CA.GOV <https://covid19.ca.gov/childcare/>

Articles

Fewer than 1 in 5 employers offer child-care help, but experts say coronavirus may make it an imperative <https://www.cnbc.com/2020/05/28/coronavirus-may-make-it-an-imperative-for-employers-to-child-care.html>

Here are some recommendations for employers on how to support employees with child care needs: <https://www.willistowerswatson.com/en-US/Insights/2020/04/covid-19-brings-new-meaning-to-bring-your-child-to-work-day>

How COVID-19 Has Created a Childcare Catch-22 for Working Families
<https://time.com/5836309/coronavirus-childcare-working-families/>

Please Note: Mack Global LLC does not endorse or recommend any childcare options, organizations or websites presented. All links, resources and articles are for informational purposes only.